VITROLITE

for the Home

Vitrolite In the Home

I didn't know a bathroom could be so beautiful" . . . "If I had a kitchen like that I would be in it all the time." . . . "I can't imagine anything easier to keep clean" . . . these enthusiastic outbursts are typical of the expressions made by visitors when Vitrolite bathrooms and kitchens are shown to them. Vitrolite walls or wainscotings are a source of pride and satisfaction because Vitrolite insures perfect cleanliness and sanitation while its color combinations and wall arrangements give it an effect of warmth and friendliness that is a joy to live with. For the handsome and colorful plumbing fixtures that are now available, Vitrolite walls make a perfect accompaniment.

Many fine homes have rooms with walls and ceilings of Vitrolite, sometimes in beautiful decorative effects, the richness of which cannot be equalled by any other material. Yet the cost is low enough that it is used for wainscoting in modest homes and apartments where simpler arrangements are in order. In fact, a real and irresistible vogue for Vitrolite has developed.

Vitrolite combines the desirable qualities of marble, glass and porcelain. It is of mineral composition, rolled while molten into large slabs of desired thickness which pass through long annealing ovens, emerging with an incomparable firepolished surface that will withstand scratches or stains and will never become marred by surface crazing or deteriorate in any way. It is now available in colors of white, ivory, blue, jade, dark green and black. Other colors are being constantly developed. The perspective views and wall elevations illustrated in this booklet, show typical Vitrolite effects. They were designed by the Vitrolite Art Department which is at your disposal for the preparation of sketches showing an appropriate arrangement for your rooms.

The Vitrolite representative company in your territory will be glad to consult with you or your architect and prepare estimates for your requirements. These companies, in most large cities, maintain sales organizations, showrooms and crews of skilled workmen to assure efficient service and perfect installations.

You owe it to yourself to investigate Vitrolite before proceeding with your building project and we trust that you may become one of the many delighted possessors of Vitrolite interiors in your home.
